

I want the correct print and I want to correct the print,

Now the correct point was to point out the mistakes by point;

And the point to print was poignant and a pungent hint,

Well the race was on for the correction of the print hunt.

I think it's a case of short term or long term memory,

So if you're trying to contact, contact clear glasses meaning;

You have got to see what you are doing writing cleaning,

Because when you're being wrong I want the correct point.

I was kind of tired and the tire made me a new tyre,

For four wheels and a steer the steer made me enquire;

I want the correct print and this time it has to be right,

For there was no such thing as a good night's sleep at night.

I want the correct print and you can do what you like,

The rest of you better make it and all of you get the right life;

It was better to be the one than the twelve promised to me,

In fact it was better to want the right time, than the world's money.

Now it comes as a truth and matter of fact that does not lie,

But becomes right to the eye and I want the correct print so I try;

Try and see if you can see and see the sea clearly,

For the ocean has waves and the ink is in the print correct.

Now if you can read the paper and it is perfectly typed,

You don't know the work that goes into it my heads wiped;

And understand what you are reading for it is the correct print,

So now all I want is the correct print on everything in the mint.

Signed,

You read it
