

Thanks for taking the time to share in my poetry and thoughts and I hope you have come to some appreciation of the ideas and places in my travels around the world.

I would like to thank you for being all my reader, for your patience and kindness and reflection on my work and until I write again and you have the opportunity to read me in a new style of work "Parsifal Doing and Going" and then again in one more poetry book "Parsifal Advances Poetically," please keep safe and remember to enjoy and share your life with others.
