

It's good to be fit and to be able to remember well,
When it is time to recall all the things you were able to tell;
For the mind is a memory of all the things you have done,
And what you have learnt and read to remember well as one.

It is a nice feeling to know all the things you need in life,
To answer all the questions and to keep out of trouble and strife;
For the fact of the matter is that what is still left to know,
Is just what happens in the future and the sure things to sow.

So remembering well is making sure of the clothes you've got on,
And seeing the day clearly and remembering the sun has still shone;
For the brightness and highlights of thinking clearly and well,
Depends on your memory and the things you need to remember to gel.

So look to the day and the things all coming to the head,
Where life is a contest and quality of just getting out of bed;
For what you need to know and just what the day does behold,
Is the common respect of the ground you are and what you are told.

It is a matter of physical fitness and mental well being,
Remember what knowledge and experience you have seen;
For the answer on earth to all the questions compared,
Is how much you can remember and the memory of your birth.

Now I have seen all and a lot of the things I recall,
And the world is a big place with things on the ball;
As a lot of people all care about the things that they need,
And money is not only for what you want, but lead and read.

Signed,

Total Recall
