

In spite of what people will say and do,
Remember down deep inside that you are you;
No matter how they try and put you down,
You will never be beaten unless you frown.

So therefore I say put a smile on your face,
And do your best to find your part and your place;
Because being your best is something you shouldn't stop,
Just believing in yourself and you'll end up on top.

There's nothing on earth quite as magic as this,
That's trying to be your best and to learn to persist;
When someone's out to put a damper on things,
It's enough to drive you mad, as trouble it brings.

But don't give up for tough times will change,
And god will start to mould and arrange;
So be your best whatever the cost,
Because excepting second place will mean that you've lost.

I don't give up and so why now should you,
When you know how you work in all that you do;
So don't despair in these times to hand,
But feel from your heart and keep on your grand.

Signed,

You can do it
