Everyone should do what they do best at, But life seems uneasy and you can't always do that; My art is a form of writing you see, It's poetry of a sort but its more common sense to me.

I like what I do and I find it comes easy, When you go to a church and don't want to be sleazy; Now time has a way of taking to its own, And this seems like mine I can feel it in my bones.

I know I'm not perfect but god I do try, To write what I can without word of a lie; Imagine the size of the task now ahead, With plenty to write from all that I've read.

I think I've discovered that's my talent can be, Spread over nations to those across the sea; To find in their life their destiny and nieche, Like God's right idea of triggering a switch.
