

You must all think I'm mad to Imagine like this,

But I dream for the day of a sweet loving kiss;

For a dream from the heart would mean only bliss,

It's something on earth you wouldn't want to miss.

Dreams from the heart are mighty real indeed,

They fill up the mind of those things we all need;

Like ideas found in books for those who do read,

As are God given hopes for those who do heed.

Special are they, who learn and do care,

For a dream from the heart is eternally rare;

But humble and aim for the hills to compare,

For a mountain will move by faith or a glare.

Dreams can come true when they come from the heart,

With beauty and power as if by magic they start;

So dream all you can and they'll start to impart,

And commit them to prayer for that would be smart.

Dreams really do come true
