

Just another poem to fill in time during the day,

Just another poem to earn and pay my way;

Just another poem from here to now and then,

Just another poem written with my pen.

.

Just another poem for me to love and lead,

Just another poem for the world to learn and read;

Just another poem for finding peace of mind,

Just another poem for the words to rhyme so kind.

.

Just another poem to help us go our way,

Just another poem to find another day;

Just another poem to help pass the time away,

Just another poem on earth this place to stay.

.

Just another poem to want to help and know,

Just another poem I want to write and grow;

Just another poem I love more than anything,

Just another poem perhaps bigger than myself.

.

Just another poem to help me see and find you,

Just another poem now starting to come true;

Just another poem to me there is no end;

Just another poem for you to be my friend.

.

Just another poem there's still three lines to rhyme,

Just another poem that has filled in some of my time;

Just another poem well now how will it finish,

Just another poem now your job to distinguish.

.

Signed,

Maybe another time.